

October 25, 2023
INPEX Solutions, LTD

Mr. Takashi Kubo, President of INPEX Solutions, LTD., participated as a panelist at the PARIMA Tokyo Conference “Adapting Permaccrisis”

On October 19, 2023, a conference organized by PARIMA (Pan-Asia Risk and Insurance Management Association*) was held at the Akasaka Intercity Conference Center, with approximately 350 corporate risk managers and insurance professionals from both domestic and international backgrounds in attendance.

*PARIMA is a not for profit professional association dedicated to develop risk management as a profession and provide a platform for Risk and Insurance managers to connect. Established in 2013, PARIMA is headquartered in Singapore and has a total membership of approximately 2,500 from 23 countries across the Asia Pacific, including around 450 members from Japan. This conference in Tokyo is the second time it has been held following the initial one in 2018.

Following the keynote speech by Mr. Shin Hosaka – Vice-Minister for International Affairs, METI Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry – in the plenary session titled ‘Adapting to the Era of “Permaccrisis”’, a panel discussion was held. President Kubo responded to questions posed by the moderator regarding the impact of the current Middle East situation on the energy market and how to manage risks including usage of insurance coverage, as well as preparation for the era of “Permaccrisis” and “Polycrisis”,

(Left photo: From left to right on the stage, METI Vice-Minister for International Affairs Hosaka, President Kubo, and Mr. Suchi / Senior Vice President of Marsh Broker Japan/moderator)

